

Design consultation – quick checklist

A focused, 60 minute Zoom session to help you move forward with a clear, practical plan for your garden.

Before the call

1. Take clear photos- from a few key angles that show the whole space.- Include any problem areas: shade, slopes, waterlogging, cluttered corners.- If possible, take at least one photo from an upstairs window for an overview.
2. Note rough measurements- Approximate length and width of the main garden areas.- Any key features you want to keep (patio, deck, trees, sheds) and their rough size.- If you have an existing plan or estate-agent drawing, keep it handy or send a copy.
3. Think about how you want to use the space- Everyday use: children playing, pets, quiet sitting space, drying clothes, etc.- Occasional use: entertaining, family events, a place to grow food, wildlife interest.- How much time you realistically want to spend maintaining the garden.
4. Be honest about your preferences- Plants you particularly like or dislike.- Any colours or styles you naturally gravitate towards.- How much you want to be involved in the work versus having it done for you.

During the call- We'll talk through your photos, site constraints and how you'd like the garden to feel.- We'll discuss layout options, likely costs, and what can be done in phases.- You can ask questions about materials, planting, maintenance and future-proofing.

After the call- You'll have a clearer idea of priorities and a realistic sequence of improvements.- Where helpful, we can follow up with simple written notes or a sketch summary of next steps.- If you'd like, we can also quote for doing some or all of the work for you (subject to being in our catchment area)

If you are unsure what to send before the consultation, just book your slot and we'll reply with what would be most useful for your type of garden.
