

Winter lawn care: keeping damage to a minimum

Use this simple checklist to help protect your lawn through winter.

1. Know when to stay off the grass- Avoid walking on frosty grass where possible.- Stay off waterlogged areas until the surface has started to firm up.- If you must cross the lawn, try to use the same route rather than spreading foot traffic.
2. Keep on top of leaves and debris- Remove the bulk of fallen leaves every week or two.- Pay extra attention to shaded or damp corners where leaves sit longer.- Lift toys, furniture and mats that block light and air from the grass.
3. Don't panic about appearance- It is normal for lawns to look tired, pale or patchy through winter.- Focus on preventing compaction and waterlogging instead of chasing perfect stripes.- Make a note of the worst areas so you can target them in spring.
4. Plan your spring work now- Take photos of the lawn on wet days and after heavy use.- Decide whether you'll need scarifying, aeration, overseeding or just a feed.- Book work early – spring slots can go quickly in dry spells.
